

Properly equipped for competing in the forest?

(as modelled for junior training by our British Champion, Ali)

Competitors are permitted to carry a mobile phone for use in an emergency and children and vulnerable adults are encouraged to do so. There is an emergency contact number printed on the map (or on the bib at larger events).

For night events, there would also be a head torch and a small backup torch.

And don't forget any personal equipment such as asthma inhalers that might be needed.

What if I have a medical condition?

Competitors are advised to carry with them any medication which may be required in an emergency and an information sheet with any essential medical details. Any competitor with a high risk medical condition is invited to download and complete the form available from the BOF website here, place this in a sealed envelope with your name on the outside, and leave it in the box at Registration. Envelopes will only be opened if required for a medical emergency, and unopened envelopes will be destroyed immediately after the event.

What if I need first aid?

Even at small local events, a first aid kit and details of the nearest hospital are always available at the download point. At larger events there is a nominated first aider or first aid team present.

How would you know if I was missing?

The electronic timing system can be used to identify missing competitors (that is why it is so important you download even if you don't finish the event). If you are at the event with someone and you are concerned they have been out longer than expected, please come and see the team at download. If you travelled alone, and wish to leave your car keys as another cross check that someone is still out, there is a box provided at registration.

How do I make sure my child does a course they can cope with?

At our SOG events, it is ALWAYS OK to go round a course with your child or shadow from a distance until they are confident. At our SOG events, it is ALWAYS OK to ask to see the map to decide whether a course would be within your child's capability. At our SOG events, it is ALWAYS OK for a child to ask for help from another orienteer if they are in difficulties.

Insurance

All of our events are registered with BOF and are covered under the normal event process; individuals are advised to have their own private accident insurance. Please note that BOF's insurers require that you are registered as being part of the event so if you are taking part as a group, please make sure all participants are listed on a dibber hire form (available from maps sales - write 'own' in the dibber number space if it is not a hired one); similarly if you are accompanying / shadowing a child.

Some things to discuss with a child who is ready to run unaccompanied:

This is a set of suggestions from parents of our current juniors of topics it is helpful to discuss with your child (in addition to everything on page 1) before they run unaccompanied. It is by no means exhaustive but we hope you will find it helpful.

Yellow maps are always picked up in advance of the start and can be talked through. At a SOG competition, it is fine to ask to see any other map in advance if, for example, you need to talk it through with your child as they move up from yellow to orange or orange to green.

Where am I going?

Can your child use their compass to put the map the right way round?

Can they talk you through the course, telling you what they will see on the way?

Where will they meet you afterwards?

Potential hazards on the way?

Can your child point out to you:

- any specific hazards shown on the map? (check that they can recognise the appropriate symbols - roads, cliffs, water, etc)
- any areas marked out of bounds?
- any compulsory crossing points?
- any boundary where there might be a danger of ending up off-map?

Is your child aware of any specific safety information from the final details or from the details provided at the start?

Is your child aware of how to behave when they meet other forest users (stranger danger), dogs, horses, mountain bikes, etc?

If things go wrong?

Have you agreed how long it is reasonable to spend on the chosen course? At what point will they return regardless? Do they know the course closing time? Are they wearing a watch?

Have you talked through the safety bearing so they would know what to do if they were completely lost? (or their map blew away, or whatever)

Is your child carrying a whistle and do they know how to use it to summon help?

Is it appropriate to run with a mobile phone - particularly whilst they are 'just moving up' (many children do - and for some events like the Brighton City Race we strongly recommend it - though obviously not all forest areas have suitable reception)
